The Good Brigade

The Tufts Health Plan Select Network was created to help lower costs for members while still providing access to high-quality and conveniently located health care providers and hospitals in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire. Our Select Network is one of the largest defined networks in the area – offering access to 21,000 doctors and 55 hospitals. Together, Tufts Health Plan and its contracted providers are committed to ensuring our members receive access to the care they need easily.

Select Network members will experience a provider network that offers choice, savings and superior quality, as well as robust coverage for routine, preventive and emergency care.

Who can get it?

- Employer groups have access to our Select Network by choosing an Advantage HMO plan (small group only) or HMO plan
- Individuals purchasing their own plans

How does Select Network work?

- Members must select a doctor from our Select Network to be their primary care provider (PCP)
- Members must always check with their doctor for a referral, before seeing a specialist
- Members always have access to urgent or emergency care – no referral or prior authorizations are required

Frequently Asked Questions

What is a Primary Care Provider (PCP)?

A PCP is a physician who manages your overall health care and can refer you to specialists when needed. You must choose a PCP within the Tufts Health Plan Network.

How do I find a PCP within the Select Network?

Use our provider search tool. Go to tuftshealthplan.com. Click on "Find a Doctor or Hospital." Then search by your plan name. Use "Select Network Plans."

Is hospital care covered?

Yes. When you use a hospital within the Select Network, refer to your plan documents for details on your cost share.

How do I see a specialist?

Your PCP must refer you to a specialist in the Select Network.

What if I need emergency care?

Go to the nearest emergency facility, or call 911. You do not need a PCP referral.
